At GALLERY Z – European & American Landscapes – Exploring Color, Form, Composition & Light. Thursday, July 11th through Sunday, Sept. 1st, 2019. Opening Reception Thursday, July 18th, 2019, 5-9PM. (Note: The June exhibit, Rome 1970s, by Stephan Brigidi, photographer, has been extended through Sunday, July 7th.)

European & American Landscapes are on display at Gallery Z as of July 11th. Art works chosen for this exhibit express how artists capture light, ever-changing, in an inspiring moment of time, and how they utilize nature's perfect forms and palette to convey a particular impression.

Jeff Pullen, a highly established New York City artist, is July's featured artist. Utilizing mixed media, Jeff often paints on construction materials, to invoke their feel and three-dimensionality while presenting the observer with unexpected views of common substances. In the artist's words, "My imagery addresses aloneness, loneliness, and the disenfranchisement that is often urban living... These same feelings can often be strangely exciting, alluring, tempting and titillating, becoming even more magnified at night, which is the setting for many of my pieces. Based on the lives and experiences of the viewer, I would like them to supply their own narratives and emotions when viewing my work."

A second featured artist is Victor Emile Cartier, French oil painter, 1811-1866.

Other featured artists are Albert Khachaderian, Everett Kinstler, Larry Sykes, Mary Mugurdichian and Varaz Samuelian.

Additional landscapes have been chosen from amongst other local, regional and international artists, including Raphael Atoyán, Sandor Bodo, Stephan Brigidi, Lee Chabot, Mikhail Chemyakin, Areg Elibekian, Mark Freedman, Kamsar, Alex Khomsky, Eveline Luppi, Sal Mancini, Angelo Marinosci, Jr., Ian Mohon, Julian Penrose, Sandra DeSano Pezzullo, Ewa Romaszewicz, Amy Ryan, Simon Samsonian, Richard Tasjian, Anthony Tomaselli and Ben Weiss.
